Cooperative International Science and Engineering Internships:

The Materials Research Laboratory (MRL) and the International Center for Materials Science (ICMR) are seeking undergraduate science and engineering majors who are interested in pursuing a research experience overseas. This internship program will send US Science and Engineering majors to international partner institutions for a 10-week summer research experience. Internships are available at research centers in Eindhoven-Netherlands; Dublin-Ireland; Saarbruecken-Germany and Gothenborg-Sweden.

Interns will gain first-hand experience in scientific investigation in a dynamic, collaborative research environment. Interns will gain first-hand experience in scientific investigation in a dynamic, collaborative research environment and enjoy the overall experience of being abroad. Participating students will be matched individually with designated mentors, working in collaboration throughout the program.

Most projects will be in interdisciplinary Materials Science; we encourage applicants with backgrounds in Mechanical, Chemical, Electrical or Computer Engineering, Biology, Biochemistry, Chemistry, Materials or Physics.
